COMMANDING GENERAL'S POLICY LETTER 09-02

From: Commanding General, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing
To: Distribution List

Subj: COMBAT READINESS IN/OUT BRIEFS TO COMMANDING GENERAL

1. Purpose. To promulgate the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing (1st MAW) policy on in/out briefs to the Commanding General, 1st MAW on Squadron Training.
2. Background. Combat readiness is the measure of a squadron's preparedness for combat operations. Squadrons should arrive to 1st MAW combat ready and during their six-month deployment have the opportunity to increase combat readiness through participation in challenging exercises, engagement activities, and unit training. My goal for 1st MAW is to provide squadrons the means to effectively train their personnel and increase overall combat readiness.
3. Policy. All Unit Deployment Program Squadron Commanding Officers will provide a combat readiness inbrief to the Commanding General, 1st MAW within seven days of arrival and an outbrief within seven days before departure. These briefs shall include, at a minimum, the following information:
 - a. Inbrief. Squadron/pilot CRP, squadron core competency, core competent crews, TEEP, and the squadron training plan during UDP.
 - b. Outbrief. Changes to squadron/pilot CRP, squadron core competency, and core competent crews. The squadron Commanding Officer's impression on operational tempo during UDP, and after action issues.
4. This policy shall remain in effect until suspended or cancelled.

T. F. GHORMLEY
